Success stories of our training centre

Shashikala grew up watching her dad work hard as a porter at the railway station. It did not guarantee that he would bring money everyday. Her mother worked as a maid. She desired to study hard so not to continue in poverty. She came to our DELL computer centre and got enrolled. After she completed her course she volunteered to teach in our centre for three months. Soon she got a good job at AIWA electronics service centre where she is getting a decent pay. She is happy that the DELL computer centre gave her experience along with the studies. Now she is able to help her family well.

Laxmibai joined the DELL computer centre of HOPE foundation. Just two weeks had passed since her joining the centre when her father passed away. As he was the only breadwinner of the family, the whole family was plunged into gloom. Even Laxmibai stopped coming to the centre. Later she came to know that there was a provision in her dad's office that in case of his death any one of his family member would be given his position. As she inquired further she was told that along with her educational qualification she needed to possess computer knowledge. She returned to the centre and completed her course. She appeared for her interview the next month and was inducted in the job. She is grateful to the DELL computer centre of HOPE foundation for getting her ready for the job.

The First batch of the Spoken English Class

In the month of April, the DELL computer centre of HOPE foundation started Spoken English classes. We inducted a batch of 15 students. On the graduation day all students gave speeches on various topics which included subjects related to pollution, global warming, and value of education. It was very encouraging to see the students speak with confidence and fluency. On this occasion prizes were also given away.
